

Timothy B. Weston. Ph.D. in Modern Chinese History, University of California, Berkeley, 1995. Associate Professor, Department of History, University of Colorado Boulder. Teach both undergraduates and graduate students. Member of the National Committee on United States-China Relations' Public Intellectual Program initiative. Publications: China in and beyond the Headlines (Rowman & Littlefield, 2012), co-editor; China's Transformations: the Stories beyond the Headlines (Rowman & Littlefield, 2007), co-editor; The Power of Position: Beijing University, Intellectuals, and Chinese Political Culture, 1898-1929 (University of California Press, 2004), author; China beyond the Headlines (Rowman &

Littlefield, 2000), co-editor, plus a number of book chapters and journal articles. Currently writing a book on journalism and journalists in the period spanning from the late Qing dynasty until the early Republican era. China-related interests: culture, politics and society in the 20th and 21st century; print media; public memory, Sino-American relations; Intra-Asian history and relations; human rights.